

NOVEMBER NEWS UPDATE

Catch Carp Spain has had quite a quiet November with the Extremadura region of Spain not escaping the cold snap which most of Europe has had this month, with night-time temperatures dipping below freezing on some nights. Add to this, heavy rain and cold winds coming predominantly from the North, fishing conditions have not been at their best. Having said that, Catch Carp Spain has still managed to get in a couple of short sessions on Sierra Brava. Even though the fishing was tough going, Catch Carp Spain rods still landed over 20 carp for the two sessions. Though the average size was lower than we're used to here in Extremadura, this being down to the difficult conditions, we still managed 7 fish over 20lb and a cracking 30lb Sierra Brava common.

Just remains to say that Catch Carp Spain wishes all our clients a Very Happy Christmas and keep your eye on the website for some cracking Festive Season deals coming up.
